

Legislative Wins with You on Our Team

Together, we are improving protections for animals under the law to ensure their well-being and safety.

- Recently, the U.S. House of Representatives passed important advancements for animals, involving: protecting dogs in puppy mills, ending horse slaughter, curbing extreme-speed slaughter and addressing domestic violence and animal abuse.
- Florida's Orange County, home to the city of Orlando, joined more than 70 other Florida jurisdictions in ending the sale of dogs, cats and rabbits in retail pet stores.
- Nevada passed groundbreaking legislation to remove housing barriers for Nevadans with pets by prohibiting insurance companies from denying coverage based on the breed of a family's dog.

You Help Pursue Justice for Animal Victims

- The American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals® (ASPCA®) was on the ground in Missouri responding to a request from local authorities to rescue 19 neglected dogs and one cat from filthy and overcrowded conditions. Many dogs were found closed off in an 80 degree, six-by-eight-foot bathroom that was covered in feces and urine.
- In August, the ASPCA helped rescue 81 dogs from an alleged dogfighting ring operating across New York and several other states. Ten individuals were arrested following the dogs' rescue. An investigation revealed evidence that the defendants were allegedly involved in the breeding, training, and illegal fighting of dogs.
- In July, we assisted local authorities with the rescue of more than 25 dogs from a cruelty situation in New York. The dogs were allegedly bred for fighting, and were found in filthy, "dungeon-like" enclosures within a basement and garage, with little food, clean water, light or ventilation.

Sadly, animal neglect and dogfighting persist in our country, but with your help, we remain diligent in our effort to eradicate it.

Thanks to animal champions like you, these animals are out of the horrendous conditions in which they were found, and are receiving the comfort, care and treatment they were denied.

A Note from Matt Bershadker

Every single day, I am thankful for the support of kind-hearted friends, like yourself, who use their voice to champion our nation's animals. Our achievements are also yours as this lifesaving work is not possible without you.

As we reflect on this year, each animal, pet parent and community we reach through our innovative programs is a reminder of all that we can accomplish together.

Your commitment to animals inspires us. On behalf of the animals we serve, thank you for standing by our side.

Wishing you all the best this holiday season,
